CAMPUS LIFE

The Holmes Version

A school day usually begins around 8 a.m. and can possibly last 24 hours. There is never enough time to study for our tests properly or get our homework done correctly. Even though we use all of our waking hours, there is still (Continued on next page) more that should have been done. We should never take one minute of our day for granted. Some day down the short road of each of our lives, Holmes Community College will be one of our fondest memories.

Besides going to our classes, there are many Bulldog sporting events to attend. Cheerleaders are having pep rallies to cheer on the football team. When football season is over, basketball season starts. Also, there are many baseball and intramural games to watch. If there is not a sporting event to attend, the Student Government Association has something to entertain us whether it is a dance with the Steve Azar band or Giovanni De Chiarro with his guitar. Also, during our free time we have club and organization meetings to attend.

However, the main reason that we are at Holmes Community College is for an education. Our teachers and administrators spend many hours planning out lessons and activities for us. We should be very thankful and show respect to them because they truly do care about us, the students.

During opening weeks of school we met numerous friends. We did not know what each new day would bring. In a whole new world, completely different from anything that our high school offered, we had to learn to make our own choices. College life brings about many new choices. Moving in the dormitories, buying books, and eating in the cafeteria were also new adjustments. making out a college class schedule for the first time can be confusing.

Lifestyles of H C C

Lifestyles at Holmes Community College range from relaxing at Ridgeland's Awards Day to working on improving the campuses. Holmes Community College has so much to offer its students. There are many sporting events, clubs, and student government activities to attend. The faculty and administration plan many things for the students to make life at home away from home more enjoyable. There are many people working outside the classroom whose work is essential for the college to function. Truly everyone on the Holmes campuses can fit into one of these lifestyles.

The first Miss Holmes Community College Pageant, a preliminary to the Miss Mississippi Pageant, was held in March. Like the Miss Mississippi and the Miss America Pageants, the contestants compete in four categories: interview, evening gown, swimsuit, and talent. Misty Green was named first alternate.

Miss Holmes Community College Laurie Reynolds

Laurie Aleece Reynolds, daughter of Sue Madaris, was crowned Miss Holmes Community College 1990. She was a sophomore from Lafayette, La. Laurie, a vocal performance major, has taken voice lessons for ten years. Laurie was a member of the Coachmen and the Jazz Bandvocalist. She was named a National Association for Teaches of Singing semi-finalist. She also played Marian the Librarian in The Music Man.

Laurie said that being Miss Holmes Community College gave her "the chance of a lifetime."

She adss that, "The Miss Mississippi Pageant was the biggest boost to my self-confidence I have ever experienced. For one whole week, people stood in line for my autograph, came out to wave on their porch when I drove by, took pictures of me with their children, and showed me lots of Southern hospitality. More than that, I got to be great friends with thirty five of the smartest, most beautiful women in Mississippi."

Dedication

When asked about his younger brother, Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr., president of Holmes Community College, offers much praise.

Quinby truly exemplifies the ongoing spirit and love that the employees, staff, and students show in their feelings toward Holmes Community college. He honestly loves Holmes and cares tremendously about the students. I truly respect Quinby's concern for the welfare of every aspect of Holmes, said Dr. Morgan.

Quinby and his wife, Becky Derrick Morgan, have three sons, Aaron, Hamer, and Lew, a former member of the Holmes football squad.

Thanks Coach Morgan for all of your years of hard work and dedication. The 1991 Horizons staff salutes you.

President's Page

In 1989 Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr. assumed the presidency of Holmes Community College. Since then, Holmes has shown remarkable progress in becoming one of the most academically respected community colleges in the state.

Morgan has played a vital role in the expansion of Holmes to better meet the needs of every student.

As part of reaching this goal, renovations are underway on the Goodman Campus; the Grenada Center has completed a multi-phase expansion; and the Ridgeland Campus personnel are already examining the options to meet the needs of a facility that is currently being used to capacity.

Holmes plays a positive part in the lives of the people who reside in the nine counties of the district. Many improvements have been made and there are many more to come.

We've become more involved. Not only have we strengthened our linkage to the public schools through interaction with all the counselors in our nine county area, we've also established that Holmes is one of the best instruments in getting an education. I'm excited about the progress that Holmes is making and pleased to be a part of it, said Morgan.

classes

Classes! Classes! Classes! Boy do we as students get sick and tired of going to classes. I do imagine the teachers get a little tired themselves. The teachers have at least five million papers to grade each night, and that has to be done. The students however do not always do their part fairly – they don't do homework, do not read their assignments, and sometimes do not study properly for tests. Even though college is hard, think how hard life would be without an education. People do not get as good job opportunities as they would have if they had attended college. So the next time you wonder about dropping out of college. DO NOT!!

Starry,

"It's very exciting," says Michael Burchfield, Biology instructor on the Goodman Campus, when he talks about the observatory to be in use in the fall of 1991.

The observatory will become a reality through the efforts of many Holmes instructors including Michael Burchfield, Luther Boggan, Ray Turlledge, W.A. Miles, Chris Haley, and Wirt Hayes.

Not only have they worked on the architectural structure and surveying, they have had a hand in the construction as well.

The observatory will be 2 stories, about 20 feet in height before the 4 meter dome, which will be 13 feet in diameter. Inside the aluminum dome will be a large Newtonian reflector telescope.

Goodman provides an ideal location for the observatory. The rural area provides minimal light pollution. Headlights from cars will not be a problem either because no access road will be built.

The facility will be used by astronomy students, physical science students, and physics students, for both classes and original research projects.

The observatory will be the only operational observatory on a community college campus in the state. *

Lighting the Lamp of Knowledge

Two faculty members were chosen from each campus to represent Holmes Community College at the Lamplighter Project, held on the Hinds Community College Campus.

The Lamplighter Project was sponsored by the Mississippi Community College President's and Dean's Associations.

The project's three main goals were to recognize and reward effective teaching techniques, to share different teaching techniques with others, and to give other teachers information on classroom research.

Julia Williams and Michael Birchfield were selected from the Goodman Campus. Joe David White and Dr. Virginia Ernest represented the Ridgeland Campus. Sue McKay and Geneva

Lighting the Lamp of Knowledge

With 13 of Mississippi's Community Colleges participating, the conference offered many opportunities for the participants to gain valuable information to take back to their classroom.

There were three speakers, Beverly Farris, Michael Rabalais, and George Baker. Workshops and small group discussions were also held.

was the speaker on Classroom Research, a program which emphasizes the ability of teachers to determine the degree of learning taking place in their individual classrooms.

She learned this method last June in a workshop at the University of California-Berkely. The workshop was led by Tom Angelo and K. Patricia Cross, who developed the program.

Farris is an instructor in the English Department on the Raymond Campus, teaching developmental and freshman composition courses, as well as English and American literature.

She received an A.A. degree from Hinds Community College, a B.A. from Millsaps College, and an M.A. from Northeast Louisiana University. She has taken additional classes at Mississippi College and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Dr. Michael J. Rabalais, Vice Presi-

The Grenada Center can boast a record not many community colleges can match. Out of all the students who have graduated from their licensed practical nursing and associate degree nursing programs, everyone has passed the state board examination.

No four year school can match that record either.

Two of the essential ingredients for a successful nurse are technical skills and communication techniques. The curriculum at the Grenada Center provides the students an opportunity to master these skills.

The associated degree nursing program, which is two academic years in length, emphasizes the nursing process as a way of managing patient needs and problems and prepares the graduate for work in a variety of settings.

The licensed practical nursing program is a one year program which has recently changed their schedule to begin in August with the other class offerings.

The students also train in several hospitals and health agencies around the state, giving them invaluable hands-on experience. *

BACK TO THE FUTURE

Some students drink Earl Grey tea and eat scones while doing it.

Other students simply fall asleep while doing it.

Reba Fill's English class decided to dress in costumes like the clothes worn during the sixteenth century while doing it.

While studying the work of William Shakespeare, that is.

While studying Shakespeare's "The Tempest," students were each assigned a special project, to be presented to the class when completed.

For the presentations of these projects, students dressed the part, transporting them back to the Elizabethan era. *

The Sex Equity Program is designed to assist male and female students who wish to pursue careers that have been traditionally held by members of the opposite sex.

Today's vocational education teachers are preparing students and workers for the twentieth century and to enter fields previously identified with the other sex.

These students and workers will be considered ground-breakers in being part of a "non-traditional enrollment." For example, the woman who is glad to be a welder, the man who is proud to be a nurse, and the couples who share homemaking and parenting.

Sex equity is freedom from favoritism based on sex. It describes an educational environment where the individuals would consider options and make choices based on their abilities and talents and not on sex role stereotypes and expectations.

A sex equity program is a deliberate effort to build partnership skills, to enhance men's and women's abilities to work together productively and to build stable, satisfying family relationships. For most people, sex equity is a valid concern in helping our future to meet the challenges of a changing work force.

However, most people assume that sex equity programs are "women's programs." Sex equity programs are kept balanced by providing courses for men.

Some of these courses include child care and cosmetology. Women's courses included welding and electronics. *

MAKING HEADWAE

Holmes Community College English instructor Geneva England was the faculty member selected to be recognized at the Higher Education Appreciation Day for 1991.

England earned her bachelor's degree from Mississippi State University in 1962 graduating third in her class. After embarking on a teaching career which is currently in its 29th year, she completed a master's degree and earned a specialist's certificate in English education from the University of Mississippi.

Prior to joining the Holmes faculty as a member of the Grenada Center staff, England had a 25-year tenure as a secondary teacher in the fields of creative writing, junior and senior English, and speech.

She was named a STAR teacher of her high school eight times and won the Mississippi Council of Teachers of English Teacher of the Year award. For ten years, her students won more writing awards than any other in the National Pen Women of America, Delta Branch competition.

England is married to Archie T. England, a mill manager for Heatcraft in Grenada. They have one son who is a Baptist minister. She is a member of the Enon Baptist Church where she has served as organist and day School teacher.

England states she has been blessed throughout her career by having wonderful students to work with, and she takes great pride in their accomplishments.

MAKING HEADWAE

Patrick Leathers of Goodman was selected the student honoree for the 1991 HEADWAE Program. Patrick is a sophomore majoring in engineering.

Leathers graduated from Central Holmes Academy in Lexington with special honors. Leathers was a member of the paper staff and won the achievement awards in mathematics and in accounting. He also graduated second in his class.

The Holmes honoree is attending HCC on an academic scholarship that he received by scoring a 25 on the ACT. His freshmen year he had a 3.930 QPA. Patrick earned membership in Phi Theta Kappa, the national community college honorary society.

This year Patrick serves as the PTK president. He plays intramural volleyball and basketball. He also enjoys reading in the areas of sciences and physics.

After Holmes, Patrick plans to transfer to Mississippi State University and major in electrical engineering. *

High Tech Focus

The Ridgeland Campus has course offerings in many diverse subjects areas. Those courses which teach students how to use the latest equipment in the workplace to solve problems more efficiently and effectively are known as "high tech" courses.

This type of course is especially beneficial to students in area such as Ridgeland, which is growing rapidly.

There are many new industries moving into the area who are in need of well-trained people.*

Like many of the other vocational/technical programs offered at the Grenada Center, the Forest Technology Program offers the student a mixture of the classroom and the field.

Counting the rings is a commonly known method of determining the age of a tree. However, forest tech goes far beyond that.

Students learn how to survey land, forest type mapping, and volume computation in addition to the the study they do on the habitats and principle botanical features.

There is also coursework on the harvesting and use of forest products. *

ROCK Around the Clock

WVTH 89.5, the voice of Holmes Community College, is a great learning environment for students looking for a future in radio broadcasting or just trying to increase their general knowledge of communications.. James Mahnoey, the director of the radio station, has been in charge ever since the radio station first went into operation nine years ago.

"The students that work here are great; they try to make the station as good as they can."

The radio station is on the air Monday through Thursday from two in the afternoon until nine at night, with its Top 40 hits of the week, contemporary rock to heavy metal.

This year the radio station broadcast the football games, including the Coach Robert Pool Show before the game, with student Devon Campbell manning the mike for both the show and the games. The station also broadcast the home basketball games.*

The Grenada Center recently underwent an expansion, which makes the current facility over four times as large as the structure built in 1985.

This expansion has afforded the Grenada Center the space necessary for new science labs, computer labs, a grill, and a forum.

Using state-of-the-art facilities and equipment enhances the students ability to learn.

The forum provides the center a place to hold dinners, meetings, and dramatic productions. *

Grenada Growing

Above. Computer labs have become a staple of the college campus; these are some of the best.

Above. The new science labs provide the students with the best equipment for experiments and study.

Above. The Ridgeland Campus writing & design contest and Reflections are two examples of creativity on campus.

Anyone who has ever had the urge, or had the urge forced upon them, to write, has found what a challenge a blank piece of paper can be.

However, there are many creative and talented individuals on Holmes' three campuses who have surmounted this task.

Their efforts can be seen in the literary magazine, Reflections. Reflections was started in 1970 as a means to showcase students' writings. It was open to students, alumni and staff.

Putting pen to paper

With the years the magazine has grown and now is limited to the winners from the contests held on each campus.

The contest is divided into the following categories: drama, short stories, essays, and poetry. The winning entries are also sent to the Mississippi Community College Creative Writing Contest.

Reflections won the state contest for creative booklets in 1979, 1980, 1981, and 1982.

B & O

Above. A Grenada student finds the work in her classes to be both challenging and rewarding.

No, it's not a railroad. It's short for Business and Office Technology.

There are many different programs within business and office, including administrative support services, micro-computer information processing, and management.

All business and office courses are designed to provide training so that students can then gain employment in a variety of settings.

In addition to technical classes, students also take communication and business law in some of the programs. *

Reading Smarter, Not Harder

Above. Students learn reading and study skills in the Reading lab.

The Reading lab on the Goodman Campus helps students to understand what they read. It enhances their vocabulary in reading and speaking. Julia Williams is an enthusiastic teacher who wants all students to strive to do the best.

"Holmes' reading lab is an extension of the process by which we learn to read, for in reality all of our knowledge stems from our ability to read. The greater our proficiency in reading the greater our capacity to learn and to enjoy the world around us," said Williams.

This class not only helps students to read and speak better, but it also helps with their study skills.

College-level study requires a great deal of reading. Comprehension of what is read is essential for successful completion of coursework.

By utilizing the reading lab, students learn how to study shorter hours, yet retain more information about the material. *

Around Holmes there are many different clubs to be involved in. They range from band to the Creative Writing Club. This variety lets many people become associated with a club suited to their own personal tastes.

Once a student becomes involved in a club they are expected to participate and help for any fund raising or events sponsored by that club. The advisers are very faithful and very interested in giving students the chance to participate.

Chris Haley

Chris Haley,, drafting and design technology instructor on the Goodman Campus, died on January 22.

Haley attended Holmes and received his baccalaureate degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. His master's degree was bestowed upon him by Mississippi State University.

Haley became an instructor for Holmes in 1968 and in the intervening 23 years he spent at the school he became an integral part of the institution.

"Chris was a very intelligent man; I do not think he even knew how smart he truly was. He was highly respected by the staff as well as all of his students," said Charles Shaw, Director of Vocational-Technical Education on the Goodman Campus.

Jacob J. McClain

Jacob J. McClain, 82, former high school principal, died on December 22.

McClain was a native of Holmes County. He was the first principal of Lexington Attendance Center, serving from 1959 until his retirement in 1973. The school was later named after him. McClain had been a member of the Board of Trustees of Holmes Community College for nine years.

"He was a nice man. He was a good man, and a thoughtful man. He was well respected among the educational community. he will be a loss to Holmes County and Holmes Community College," said Holmes Community College president Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, Sr.

Go Dogs! Go dogs! How many times in this one year have we said that? Who knows, but probably not enough. The athletes at Holmes give us sports fans all of the entertainment that we can stand. Football and cheerleading keep us occupied throughout the fall. Also, the bulldog cheerleaders cheer on the men's and women's basketball teams! Next, baseball starts. On those beautiful spring days why not attend a bulldog baseball game? This year there will be a bulldog tennis team for both men and women. Also,

HCC will have a golf team. Our very own radio station 89.5, WVTH, carries all of the football games and all of the home basketball games.

going on record

Only in America.

That could apply to many subjects, but near the top of the list would have to be that autumnal ritual that brings millions of Americans to stadiums across the country to watch boys of all ages and abilities run from yard-line to yard-line.

Now we could talk about the past when they played with a real pigskin ball and wore genuine leather helmets. Instead, we are going to talk Holmes Community College football, 1990-91.

Although the season officially starts in fall 1990, preparation is given to the football team and roster much earlier than that. Coaches start by picking players. Players that are academically, as well as athletically, inclined.

Our bulldogs put a lot of muscle into practicing when the regular students are still enjoying summer break. Spending hours in the Mississippi heat, the coaching staff and men in pads and practice jerseys try to iron out the bugs.

Because, they know soon the maroon-and-white will be put to the test.

Well the first test came, then the next. Soon it was all over, our boys that started way back when had finished their season. Although not at the head of the pack, still with the pack.

What a year, you might say. A lot of ups and downs, tough roads, and tough teams.

"Our team played hard," said Head Coach Robert sive lineman. Both outstanding players earned the title of all-region.

Our bulldogs receiving All-State second team were Madison's Trend Woidtke, kicker; Eric Ware, defensive tackle, from Alexander City, Al.; Yazoo City's Tony James, defensive back.

Those receiving All-State honorable mention were: Grenada's Stanley James, tight end, Winona's Marcus Hobbs, defensive back; Benton's Jerry Williams, wide receiver; Jamie Wallker, linebacker from Blakely, Ga.; Richard Rollins, wide receiver from Atlanta, Ga.; Dan Chapman, fullback from Jackson, Al.; Kosciusko's Shon Denny, tackle; and Kenny Lee Brooks, offensive lineman from Alexander City, Al.

Playing for the North All-Star squad were Lexington's Richard Chisolm, punter; Eupora's Brian Edwards, linebacker; Durant's Amos Hytower, offensive lineman and Eric Ware, defensive lineman, from Alexander City, Al. Pool. From this hard playing team comes a lot of good players. Many of which have been recognized in post season games and or honorable mentions or titles. Those players receiving All-State first team were: Lexington's Richard Chisolm, punter; and Durant's Amos Hytower, offender City, Al. Many of our players have been recognized by four-year colleges as well. Some of the signees include Richard Chisolm, the University of Mississippi; Dan Chapman, Troy State University; John Crittenden, University of North Alabama; and Eric Ware, Troy State University.

H C C B D L L D O G S

Henry B. McClellan, Jr.
Athletic Director

Henry B. McClellan, long-time Holmes Community College administrator, serves as executive vice-president, business manager and athletic director.

McClellan, who received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees from Mississippi State University, is an enthusiastic sportsman, particularly interested in fishing and hunting. Both of these he and son, 15-year-old Trey, enjoy together. But, he's just as interested in the people and sports found on Holmes Community College campuses.

McClellan and his wife, Sherrie, the most pleasant of pleasant voices to those who call the Holmes District Administration number, have two daughters, Beth and Tess, in addition to son Trey.

Tess, a former Bulldog cheerleader and Growl sports editor, begins her senior year at Delta State University.

Head Football Coach

Robert Pool begins his fifth season as head coach of the Holmes Community College Bulldogs. For Pool and many of the fans, the slightest chill in an early September evening brings anticipation and excitement about the coming season. In the back of everyone's mind is the hope of many victories and post-season play.

And Bulldog fans are not often disappointed.

Pool's success on the turf of Ras Branch Field harkens back to the season of 1981 and 1982 when the present Bulldog coach served under then head coach A.J. Kilpatrick. Pool then left Holmes for a four-year hiatus as Greenwood High School's head coach. Holmes head coach has a proven track record both on the prep and two-year college circuits. The latter is attested to by Pool's role in Holmes' capture of the 1981 state title and the second place finish and subsequent bowl game for the Bulldogs during the 1988 season.

Pool knows community colleges, both as a faculty member and former student at Northwest Community College in Senatobia. He continued his education at Ole Miss, where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees.

Pool and his wife Billie Joyce, a social science instructor, make their home on the Goodman Campus.

David Coates

Assistant Football Coach

David Coates begins his third year on the Holmes Community College football coaching staff. Prior to coming to Holmes, Coates coached on the high school level, first, two years at Marianna, Fla. and the six years on Jackson Prep's coaching staff.

Winning All-State honors in his home town, Bridgeport, Ala., Coates went on to play college ball at Ole Miss, suiting up as a quarterback from 1973 to 1977. From the University of Mississippi it was on to East Tennessee State University where he continued his education as a graduate assistant.

Coates' wife, Rosemary, is a nurse. They, along with sons Drew and Patrick, make their home on the Goodman Campus.

Quinby Morgan

Assistant Football Coach

Quinby Morgan is a football coach. He is also Holmes Community College's District Director of Purchasing and Receiving. Morgan, who stays plenty busy when the game of football is not in season, stays doubly busy during the autumnal rites serving on Pool's coaching staff. These duties are in addition to, not in place of, the many tasks he must perform as head of purchasing and receiving.

Morgan, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees, the latter in 1968, from Delta State University, came to Holmes the same year. He then served for seven years as a Holmes assistant. In 1975 he took over the helm of the Holmes program, remaining head coach until 1979 when he became the Goodman Campus director of maintenance, a position he held until 1987 when he assumed his present duties.

Morgan, who served a stint as Delta State 'M' Club president, is married to the former Becky Derrick. They have three sons, Aaron, 14, Hamer, 12, and Lew. Lew is a former Holmes standout who is now completing his studies at Mississippi State University.

Hugh Shurden

Assistant Football Coach

He has played on Holmes Teams, those of 1967 and 1968, and he has coached the teams, those for the last six years. Prior to coming to Goodman as a member of the faculty, the Mathiston native coached in the high school of his hometown for two seasons. He then moved on to ply his trad in Sturgis, Miss., spending six years under former Holmes Head Football Coach Johnny Fulce., when he, Fulce, was heading up the Sturgis fooball program.

Shurden, an alumnus of Mississippi State, was an All-State Center at Holmes before he moved on to the Starkville school, from which both he and his wife, Barbara, graduated. The two are avid outdoors persons and share an especially great love for fishing.

Shurden's children include, Mandy, Chuck, and Brittany. Chuck is already showing signs of following his father on the gridiron. Now it is as a player, where his father began acquiring his expertise.

Lander Hemphill

Trainer and Equipment Manager

Lander Hemphill is affectionately called by all fortunate enough to know him "Slim." Coming originally to Holmes in 1982 from Carrollton High School as a talented defensive back and tight end, he came to college with no desire other than to be a trainer.

Now a full-time Holmes staff member, Hemphill has, since leaving the ranks of Holmes students, assumed the duties of trainer and equipment manager. A job which he thoroughly enjoys, if for no other reason than, as he says, "I take pride in my work."

The son of Leroy and Adella Hemphill of Carrollton, he lives on the Goodman campus as resident staff member of the athletic dorm. For fun he listens to music, his favorite being country and western, and works, for as the Holmes trainer is quick to say, "I love every minute of it."

Dave Brockmeyer

Volunteer Assistant Football Coach

Dave Brockmeyer, the newest addition to Holmes Community College's coaching staff, lends his services to the Bulldogs as a volunteer. He has been actively coaching in central Ohio and northern Florida for the last 15 years. The Ohio native comes to Holmes from Jacksonville, Fla., his present home.

Brockmeyer, Jones Junior College standout, finished his collegiate career at Louisiana College. Among Brockmeyer's many feats at Jones was the rather astounding 78 passes he snatched in 8 games. From college it was into the pro ranks where the Ohioan played both Canadian and American brands of football.

Volunteer coach Brockmeyer and wife, Sue, have five children. Their progeny represent four daughters. Bobbi, a Jones alumnae, lives in Germany; and Jimi, an English major, has returned to Florida Atlantic University to tack on an education degree.

Other Brockmeyers are daughters Samantha, to the family Sammi, in the United States Army, who is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas; and Billi, a sophomore at East Holmes Academy, will participate in a variety of sports; and son David, Jr., a junior at East Holmes Academy, will look to football, basketball and track to provide extra-curricular activities.

The Holmes Community College Cheerleaders went to Trinity Valley Community College in Athens, Texas for a National Cheerleaders Association college cheerleading camp held July 16-19. While at camp, Holmes Community College Cheerleaders award all superior ribbons and received a trophy for their "Fight Song."

The cheerleaders practice throughout the summer to prepare for the pep rallies and football games held in the fall. However, the end of football season does not mean the end of their duties. They cheer at the basketball games as well.

Due to some turnover in squad members at the end of the first semester, another try-out was held for the remainder of basketball season. Julie Giddings was added to the group. Eric McCullough was called to active duty in Dec. for Operation Desert Shield.

The basketball season will last until spring break. After that, the cheerleaders will be involved in judging high school try-outs.

The Cheerleading squad practices daily in the coliseum. During practice, they work on stretching drills, cheer reviews, stunts, pyramids, tumbling and jumps.

The Holmes Community College Cheerleading squad strives to maintain harmony within the squad. This is not easily achieved because of the tremendous amount of time spent together. However, good attitudes are as much a part of being a good squad member as good motions, stunts or jumps. The squad takes on a family-like personality, which allows them to work together as a team.

The Sheppards, husband Gary who is Director of Holmes' Bands, and Gale, begin their sixth year in association with Holmes Community College. The family, two sons, Jonathan, eight, and Andrew, five, reside with their parents in Goodman.

WHAT'S ALL THE HOOP-LA ABOUT?

"This basketball team has faced a lot of adversity," said head basketball coach Bennie Kimble.

Due to various and sundry reasons, the team lost four key sophomores early in the season. But Arthur Hemmingway and Cortez Cowan, both sophomores, have provided good leadership and played well in the games.

Kimble's starting line-up included four freshmen and at times there were five freshmen on the court.

"Our freshmen players have performed well for us, but their play has not been consistent," commented Kimble.

"With the number of freshmen we are having to play, almost every game has been a learning situation for them."

One of the high points of the season was winning the Hinds Community College Invitational Tournament. "At that time, our team had not reached its peak" The team has some strong leaders with good records. Darrell Hudson, a freshman from Yazoo city, averages 11 points per game. Cortez Cowan, a 5'10 sophomore Bentonian, averages 4 points per game. The guard is Marvin Grey, a 6'1" freshman from Louisiana, averages 18 points per game. Tim Jones, a guard who averages 12 points per game, is another 6'1" freshman from Louisiana.

The small forwards are Fred Brooks, a freshman from Pickens averaging 9 points per game and Robert Clark from Lexington.

The post players are Arthure Hemmingway, a 6'3" sophomore from Vaiden who averages 14 points. Antoine McDowell, a 6'7" freshman from Louisiana, averages 7 points. And two other post players are Michael Young at 6'6" and Michael Boudreaux a 6'5" Louisianian.

Coach Kimble hopes this year's experience will help to improve the team for next year.

Bennie Kimble Men's Basketball Coach

The 1990-91 season brought Holmes Head Men's Basketball Coach Bennie Kimble to the helm of the Goodman school's program for the nineteenth year. Tack on another eight years Kimble spent coaching in the high school ranks and one begins to get an idea of the breadth and depth of the man's experience, a leader by both example and experience.

Kimble is himself a junior college product, having spent two years at Copiah-Lincoln, where, of course, he played basketball. From the junior college ranks it was on the Southeastern Louisiana University. There, as he did at Co-Lin, he established himself as a highly competitive player, ultimately establishing two school records that remain on the books: he had the best percentage shooting field goal in a single year, .57; he is the only player to score more than 400 points in two consecutive years. From Southeastern it was ultimately on to Delta State University where he received his masters.

Kimble, a native of Lloyd Star, has been a consistent winner on the junior college circuit. His teams, whether high school or college, have provided their followers with a brand of basketball that has, over the years, proven second to none.

Michael Young (44) puts one in despite persistent pressure from the opposing team.

Arthur Hemmingway (25) rises to the challenge as he leaves the floor to put two more points on the home team score-board.

Experience was not something you could say the 90-91 women's basketball team had. Starting out with only 3 sophomores and 9 freshman, the team had no other way to learn but the hard way.

The first three games left the Lady Bulldogs with an 0 and 3 record, although two of the three games were very close. But the lessons they learned in those games paid off; in the next six games, Holmes proved victorious. Included in those six games was the game against Hinds on Hind's own floor.

"The tournament at Hinds was a great accomplishment after being defeated by them earlier in the season," said Ron Aldy, head coach of the women's basketball team.

The team continued to be strong on the road, defeating Itawamba Community College by 19 points. An excursion to Jones County Junior College proved to be successful for the Bulldogs.

"During that time Jones had a 10-3 record, and had defeated us earlier in the season," said Aldy.

Another important victory was Northwest. Aldy said it meant a lot to the team because it was the first time they had beat them.

As the scores can attest, the freshmen are developing well into their game.

The small forward/guard, Genice Duren, a sophomore, averages seven points per game. She is a leading rebounder and one of the best all around players.

Sophomore Lisa Gamlin, a two guard/point averages six points per game and is a great ball handler.

Alison Jones, the last sophomore on the team, plays two guard/small forward and makes most of her points from three-point shots.

These three sophomores make up part of the starting line-up.

Retha Greer, a freshman who averages 16 points and nine rebounds per game, leads in block shots. She is a very consistent player.

Tonya Dawson, a freshman point guard who runs offense, is the team's leading assist at six and a half per ball game and also leads post feeds.

Kim Wingard, a freshman post player, averages 12 points and is the second leading rebounder.

Sonya Holmes, who shoots 83 percent of her free throws, is a second guard with an 11 points per game rebound average.

Carolyn Vickers, Angela Mitchell, and Belinda Clayton are all freshman players who play post position. Coach Aldy hopes the home games will give them a chance to play.

The future plans for the team, according to Coach Aldy, are to improve and go forward.

Ron Aldy
Women's Basketball Coach

Ron Aldy begins his third year as Holmes women's basketball coach. His freshman year on the juco tour proved better than almost anyone had dared to predict. This season, it is with high hopes the long-time Kirk Academy men's and women's basketball coach launches his third season at the helm of the Lady Bulldogs.

Aldy was a track, basketball, and baseball standout as a high school student in Jackson, Miss. At Ole Miss he played varsity baseball and basketball. After getting his undergraduate degree from Ole Miss he continued his graduate studies at Delta State and the University of Mississippi.

Prior to his long stint at Kirk, Aldy coached two years at Chamberlain-Hunt Academy. While in the prep ranks he was twice named the Mississippi Private School Association's overall girls high school coach of the year in 1982 and 1988. He has also been selected to coach the North Girl's All-Stars 13 times, as well as once for the boys.

Aldy's wife, Wanda, is a reading and math instructor on the Goodman Campus. The Aldys, who make their home in Goodman, have two children, Brittany and Jay.

F I E L D O f D R E A M S

Last year was what some baseball experts would call a progressive year for the Diamond dogs. Others might call it a banner year. But whatever you call it, it was good.

Any fan you kept up with the injury-plagued 88-89 season would certainly not have predicted an 89-90 season, with such developments as a 10 game winning streak and victories over community college baseball giants like Mississippi Delta Community College, Gulf Coast Community College.

"It was a first to have a ten game winning streak. We also swept the powerhouses for the first time. Now that we know we can reach that level of play, it is merely a matter of maintaining that quality," said Ed Cook, head baseball coach.

The excellence of the team was noticed by the scouts for the four year schools. Some sophomore stand-outs were chosen by those colleges.

With Corey Denning's return, the pitching game remains relatively stable. The determining factor to winning is the hitting, especially hitting doubles. The boys at bat have to bring balance into the ballgame.

Although baseball is a spring season sport, the team spends the fall on the field preparing for the spring. Some of the preparation includes honing the team down from 38 prospects to the regulation 24. And practice means working the mind as well as the body.

"Kids come in and play very few games. We start from the beginning with fundamentals. Practices are very drill-oriented. We put them through a combination program consisting of weight training alongside the usual hitting, running, etc. Instruction primarily comes from sitting down and learning the mental part of the game," said Cook.

"Our main goal is to come out here with an attitude to learn a lot and have fun. One of the other objectives is to win as many key division games as possible. Another goal is to win more games than you lose. Another is to get the toughest schedule. We play four nationally ranked community college teams: Mississippi Delta, Three Rivers, Chipola, Fl. and Gulf Coast. And that's a challenge," said the coach of the Diamond Dogs.

Ed Cook Head Baseball Coach

Ed Cook begins his second year as head Bulldog baseball coach. The Indiana native is a product of Indiana State University, where he played baseball, learning its intricate and arcane secrets during his own days as a collegiate player. In addition to baseball he also held forth on the gridiron at Indiana.

From his home state Cook traveled to Louisiana where for three years he coached at New Orleans' Redemptoris High School. Then it was on to Jackson, Miss., where he coached at Woodland Hills Academy before joining Holmes' staff.

With an undergraduate degree in education, a major in physical education and minor in art, Cook had graduate work at Mississippi College. He is an avid runner and has participated in a number of triathlons.

Cook and his wife, Kim, have one daughter, Jamie, 10. The three make their home on the Goodman Campus.

HORIZONS

BY JOLYNN MCLELLAN

Always behave like a duck — keep calm and unruffled on the surface but taddle like the devil underneath.

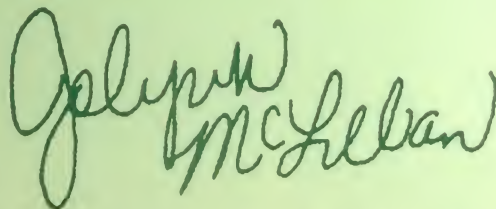

Those were my words of wisdom as a graduating senior. I have committed those words to memory and have used them over and over again.

As editor of the 1990-91 Horizons, I have had some wonderful experiences, along with some learning and hard ones; however, I have never regretted one minute. Editing this annual has given me a chance to communicate with all of the faculty, staff, and students.

People never realize how much work goes into an annual. It is millions of hours, and I have been willing to devote my time to all of them so all of the people at Holmes Community College will have a book of memories for the 1990-91 school year. I hope everyone will have a special memory on at least one page.

This year's Horizon's staff has been outstanding. They have done absolutely everything I have asked them to do. Even though I could get pretty fussy, they have always overlooked that. I could never tell you, staff, in words how much I appreciate each one of you. Each of you are special in your own way, and that is why we have gotten the job done.

I hope that you will now just sit back and enjoy!

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Jolynn McElvan". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style. The first name "Jolynn" is written in a larger, more prominent script, and the last name "McElvan" is written below it, also in cursive.

P.S. Miss Caron Kay all I know to say is a great big I thank you, I appreciate you and I love you!
